Choosing the Right Fabric Type

Why Contract-Grade Treated Fabrics Matter

In senior living environments, fabrics do more than complete a look – they protect residents, support staff, and ensure long-term value. That's why we only offer contract-grade fabrics specifically designed for healthcare and high-use settings.

Key Benefits

Built for High-Traffic Use

Withstands 30,000–100,000+ double rubs, outperforming residential fabrics and delivering long-lasting durability in demanding Senior Living environments.

Tested for Safety & Reliability

Meets strict fire safety, durability, and performance standards, supporting a safer, more dependable environment.

Easy Maintenance

Resists stains and moisture with protective treatments – making cleanup faster and reducing staff workload.

Backed by Long-Term Warranties

Enjoy peace of mind with contract-grade warranties, reducing replacement needs and lowering total cost of ownership.

Woven

Soft and residential in feel, woven treated fabrics offer added durability and stain resistance. Great for assisted living dining or lounge areas where comfort and style are key.

Vinyl

Vinyl is best for high-use, high-cleanability areas like memory care. Its sealed surface resists moisture, stains, and disinfectants for easy maintenance.

Why Cleanable, Contract-Grade Fabrics Matter

Contract-grade fabrics support the unique needs of senior care environments by enduring heavy daily use, rigorous cleaning routines, and stringent safety requirements. Their stain-resistant and antimicrobial finishes help keep your furniture looking fresh while minimizing odors and fading, even under constant use.

Many fabric options can be bleach-cleaned, streamlining infection control, and offering lasting durability, which helps reduce your total cost of ownership.

Creative Ways to Use Fabric in Senior Living Furniture

Choose Durable Vinyls with a Fabric-Like Look

Select vinyls that mimic the appearance of woven textiles. They combine the cleanability and durability needed for high-use spaces with the warmth and style of residential fabrics.

Go Bold with Patterned Accents

Incorporate large-scale patterns on chair backs, cushions, or accent pieces to add visual interest, support wayfinding, and bring personality into the space.

Mix Multiple Fabrics on a Single Piece

Use vinyl on seat surfaces for easy maintenance and pair it with woven fabrics on backs or sides to create a more inviting, home-like aesthetic.
